Cursive Writing Skills for Left/Right Handed Students These handwriting workbooks are good for younger students just learning cursive, or for an older child who has never learned. Both versions follow the same format: learn grip and paper placement, then get busy training your hand to make the swooping and looping shapes.

To straighten up a bit, adjust the angle of the paper. Think of your writing space as a clock, with 12 o'clock straight ahead. If you're right-handed, rotate the page so that the bottom-right corner is at 4 o'clock and the top-left one is at 10 o'clock. For lefties, the bottom-left corner should fall at 8 and the upper-right corner at 2.
